GENERAL NOTES. From additional particulars of the fire at Bolton, on the Vermont Central rallroad, we learn that the depot with the wood shed containing 200 cords of wood was destroyed. The heat warped the rails so that the express mall was obliged to carry by. The hotel near the station was only saved by great efforts, the roof being kept covered with wet blankets.

With his gardener he is constantly at loggerheads because that functionary has done this or has omitted to do that. Yet in all that which he complains of, the pain endured on his part is more imaginary than real. As a matter of fact, he would suffer no bodily inconvenience were would suffer no bodily inconvenience were everything he grows destroyed by his ene-mies. But then he persuades himself that he is deeply aggrieved, and that is the main thing. An aimless, do nothing life has an unmistakable tendency to make a man be-come effeminate and a general whiner. He may at the commencement of his career be affable and agreeable, but having, unfor-tunately, too much time in which to de-velop that love of carping and grumbling velop that love of carping and grumbling which seems inherent in us all, he too of-ten ends by becoming a crotchety, cranky old wasp. PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT.

Francisco, June 2d. After a thorough examination of Modoc captives, gathered in during the present scout under Col. Green, it has been ascertained that the last haul netted thirty-four men, women and children, thirteen of them being able-bodied warriors, sixteen rifles of various patterns, 113 cartridges and several lature during the last hours of its session

BOSTON CHARLEY AND SCHONCHIN Charley and Sconchin are anxious about the disposition to be made of them. The former murdered Dr. Thomas and the latter mutilated Meacham. Barton and Schonchin look like desperadoes. Each carries his character in his face. Barton is about and not paying him when due, he sued 28 years of age, and Schonein 50. The Charley and Cabaness, of Yreka. The contract surgeon, who slept in their retreat last night, says of Captain Jack, that he presented a most woe-begone appearance.

CAPTAIN JACK'S BEFLECTIONS. The wily warrior of warriors sat upon a rock in the center of a little lava bed a few yards off and seemed as lonely as his surroundings. He was wrapped in a faded army blanket, and als head was buried in his hands, his sister Mary, captured at Willow Creek the day before yesterday, talked to him with tears in her eyes and against them of mailing obscene literaasked that he enter our camp. He was ture, sullen and had little to say; he did promise that he would surrender to-day, and in the night he stole way.

HIS ALLEGED INSANITY. The Modocs say that Jack is insane, but there is much method in his madness at persons were here to attend the German present. He is thought to be in this neighborhood with from three to five warriors. There are twelve warriors roaming at large now, and scouts were made to-day in three directions of country by cavalry under command of Colonel Perry, Major Trimble and Major Pearson. The war with the Modoes, as a tribe, is over, fighting after the guerilla fashion will be probably continued until the last outlaw is captured or killed

Capt. Higger's company of Oregon volunteers numbering 40 arrived in this valley last evening and camped near us, They will have a chance to do some little scouting to-day.

Applegates Mansion, Clear Lake Cole, June 2d. afternoon, via San Francisco, This morning the troops at camp in Langett's valley were divided into several parties and sent out in scouts after the fleeing Modocs. Just as the scouting parties left the Modoc crew with the exception of Bogus Charley, Hooker Jim, Steamboat Frank and Shacknasty Jim were sent to this ranch in charge of Lieut. Taylor of the 4th artillery and a small detachment.

HIS CAPTURE AT LAST. Applegate's House, Clear Lake, Cal., June

A series of prolonged vells and cheers aroused this camp from a pleasant siesta half an hour after the departure of my last injurious statements whose force was derived solely from others,
HENRY WARD BEECHER. courier. Gens. Davis and Wheaton and the other officers and all the men rushed from the house and tents to find the cause of the uproar and at once the whole camp was in commotion. Down the level plain north of the house was a grand cavalcade of mounted horsemen. ENTRANCE INTO CAMP The steeds rushed forward at once at a furious rate and soon reared the groups of sponsiblinty and ask the privilege to publish spectators scattered about the premises. "Captain Jack is captured," shouted a sturdy sergeant. Again the valley echoed with cheers and vells The mounted command was that of Perry; he had returned from a scout of twenty-three hours. Three miles above the mouth of Willow Creek, at halfpast ten o'clock this morning, the Warm Spring scouts struck a trail and after a brief search the Modocs were discovered. HOW THE CAPTAIN SURRENDERED.

Col. Perry surrounded the Indian retreat; his men were bound to fight, and suddenly a Modoc shot out from the rocks with a white flag: he met a Warm Spring who said Captain Jack wanted to surrender; three scouts were sent to meet Captain Jack; he came out cautiously, glanced about him a moment and then as if giving up all hopes came forward and held out his hand to his visitors, then two of his war riors, five squaws and seven children darted forth and joined him in the surrender.

WHO TOOK HIM. The command that made this famous cout was the first squadron of the first cavalry, Colonel D. Perry, composed of troop F, Lieut. Miller and troop H, Major Trumbull and medical officer assissant surgeon Dewitt. The guides were C. Pullman and H. A. Applegate.

JACK AS A PHISONER.

Captain Jack is about forty years old, he is five feet eight inches high, and compactly built. He has a large and well formed face, full of individuality, although dressed in old clothes, he looks every inch a chief He does not speak to any one. The Mo. does are grouped in the field near the house, and surrounded by a guard. Spectators peer into Captain Jack's face with eager interest, but he heeds them not, he is still as a statute.

The Internal Revenue.

Washington June 9. The impression seems to prevail among eastern collectors of internal revenue that the act of December 24th, 1872, which requires persons, engaged in banking, to make returns to internal revenue officers of their capital, circulation and deposits semiannually, instead of monthly, as heretofore extends to national banks; and in some instances, national banks, are required to make such returns to internal revenue officers.

This is incorrect. The law in question extends only to private and state bankers. The duty on capital circulation and deposits of national banks is payable to the manner as heretofore.
